Keep Your Quality Connection - on the Move

Tired desks and employees on the move – two signs that let you know you need a wireless telephony solution. With more and more time spent away from work stations, employees need the flexibility and mobility provided by a wireless handset in order to stay in touch with colleagues, customers and contacts. Without it, valuable time is wasted and calls are lost – the same could be the case for contracts and orders.

With a wireless add-on telephony solution from KIRK telecom AS, this scenario is all in the past. Leave a new era of workplace communication where employees are always connected and available – even while on the move.
